

Genesis

A Message of New Life from Trinity Episcopal Church

July & August 2014

Dear Friends

Welcome to the summer season. After a long winter and a busy spring, I am certain that many of us are thankful that these days are here. I once again pray that each of us will set aside time for rest and reflection, contemplation and recreation, both alone and with family and friends. I continue to believe that one of the chief problems in our society today is the minimizing of Sabbath keeping. We have come to pride ourselves on how incredibly busy we are, believing that that busyness is a sign of just how productive, and important, we are. We forget that, according to Genesis, even God rested after creating the cosmos. We have blinded ourselves to the fact that, perhaps, a "working vacation" is actually an oxymoron.

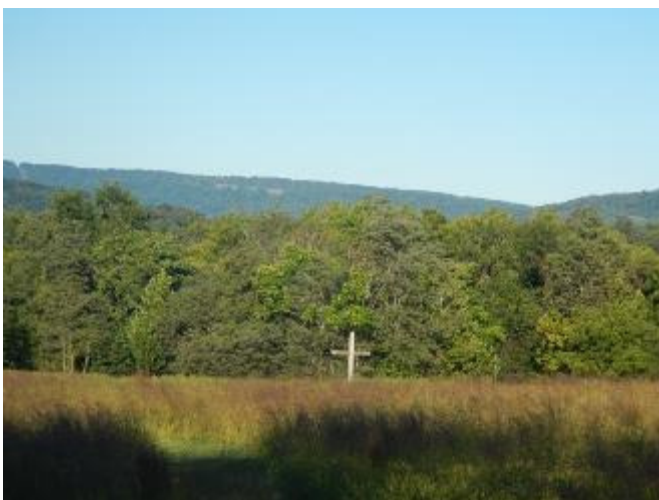

So I hope you will find the time this summer to enjoy a hike in the woods, a swim in the lake, and/or a sunrise by the sea. I hope that you will spend important time with your family and friends, looking one another in the eye, conversing about the things that really matter most. I hope that you will place yourselves in the very presence of God, be still, and wait.

Some of you kindly ask what is on my summer reading list. Here are a few of the titles I hope to work through while keeping Sabbath time:

- ♦ Those Angry Days by Lynne Olson
- ♦ Collaborative Circles by Michael P. Farrell
- ♦ Atheist Delusions by David Bentley Hart
- ♦ A Constellation of Vital Phenomena by Anthony Marra

If you enjoy mysteries in the style of P.D. James and Martha Grimes, I highly recommend the "Inspector Gamache" series written by Louise Penny. I am working my way through the first, Still Life and it is wonderful!

I close with a most appropriate thanksgiving from our Book of Common Prayer. Enjoy the season and keep the Sabbath:

We give you thanks, most gracious God, for the beauty of earth and sky and sea; for the richness of mountains, plains, and rivers; for the song of birds and the loveliness of flowers. We praise you for these good gifts, and pray that we may safeguard them for our posterity. Grant that we may continue to grow in our grateful enjoyment of your abundant creation, to the honor and glory of your Name, now and forever. Amen. (BCP, p. 840)

Faithfully in Christ,
The Rev. Rob Banse

Vestry Notes

Gina Hammond, Senior Warden

The Vestry held its regularly scheduled meeting on Wednesday June 18, 2014. The Rev. Robert L. Banse, Jr., Rector, presided. He began with opening prayers. Margaret Moore shared a daily meditations on fellowship from a book her grandmother gave her.

The minutes of the May 21, 2014 Vestry meeting were approved with one amendment. This document is available on the bulletin board in Cox Hall.

New Business Items:

- Treasurer Charles Ince reported on the financials through May 2014. Expenses are slightly under budget and income is ahead of budget. This is a good position for going into the summer months.
- Rob Banse reported on the successful 2014 Stable Tour. Having beautiful weather, four new venues and a $20,000 anonymous gift were significant factors in impacting funds received. Final accounting is in process. It is estimated that the proceeds will exceed $80,000. We are now looking for new chairs for 2015. Stephanie Bates has agreed to mentor these individuals. The Vestry recommended that our publications emphasize that this money is all being used for Outreach.
- A discussion was held on how we might involve more people in our activities at Church. The Vestry moved into executive session for this portion of the meeting.
- Moving out of executive session, the Rector continued his discussion of 2014 objectives. He has received many good comments from Vestry members on what they would like to see at Trinity. He also acknowledged, having now experienced what he characterized as activity equivalent to three Holy Weeks and Easters this spring that a review of our staffing needs is appropriate. He acknowledged that it is time to add another clergy person to the staff. The Vestry will set up a separate committee, to include members of the congregation, to help with a review of our needs. The consensus is that this is a moment of CELEBRATION, as it reflects the growth we are witnessing. This study will be the number one priority for the summer with a report expected in October 2014.
- Bob Appenzeller reported on the methodology that the Outreach Committee is using to determine what needs should be funded. He presented a spreadsheet with over 20 organizations whose funding requests are being considered. These involve both domestic and international candidates. The committee is working to obtain completed Outreach requests (available at <http://www.trinityuppserville.org/Outreach/>) from these organizations.

- Margaret Moore reported on ideas for the Annual Meeting. This will be held in conjunction with the Country Fair on October 5, 2014. A single service will be held at 9 am, followed by the Annual Meeting. This will be kept to a minimum number of reports, and will focus on celebrating the activities of the past year. A pot luck meal will then be held, featuring Tommy Breeden's BBQ.

Old Business Items:

- The Rector gave an update on the status of the current efforts to increase the Endowment. All Vestry members have been visited. Rob reported that an additional $900,000 has been pledged as commitments to the Meade Society (i.e., gifts to be received on the death of an individual). $30,000 in outright gifts have also been received. The Rector and his wife, Janie, plan to make gifts of both types. The remainder of the summer will be spent getting other lead gift givers before the larger congregation is solicited.
- Plans are underway to use the Outdoor Chapel more frequently. On a monthly basis, we will have fellowship and an evening service. These events will begin at 6:30 pm and conclude by 8 pm. The Church will furnish the meat for grilling and drinks for the evening. Attendees are asked to bring a side dish and/or dessert to share. Dates scheduled are June 25, July 23 and August 27. A once-a-month Saturday evening 5:30 pm Eucharist will also begin in the fall.
- A letter has been sent to our neighbors on Route 50 who border our Outdoor Sanctuary. We are seeking their support in keeping the back of their properties clear of debris.
- Jolly de Give gave a report on negotiations being held with the current tenants of the Gulick House. They have made an offer to help reduce their outstanding utility bills incurred during the severe winter conditions. The Finance Committee will review their request.
- Pamela Wynfield reported that 25 persons are planning to attend the parish retreat at Shrine Mont.
- Gina Hammond reported that letters have been sent to all parishioners for whom information is incomplete on our database.

Having this information will allow the impacted individuals to be able to vote at the Annual Meeting.

- The Trinity Wedding Procedures are also being updated. A draft has been provided to the Rector and the affected staff. When approved, these will be posted to Trinity's Website.

Committee reports were received.

- The Nominating Committee has secured four candidates (see biographies on pages 4-5)
- The Healing Ministry, having recently added three more members, will begin having Healing Ministers at the 8 am service once a month. This ministry is also willing to share its study of the healing ministry of Jesus with the whole congregation via the forums. This offer was referred to the Adult Education Committee.
- The Outdoor Chapel Committee is seeking persons to help fill the gator bags on the trees. This needs to be done weekly, and takes about 2 hours to complete. Persons interested in helping should contact Wayne Gibbens.

Gina Hammond gave the Wardens Report. Thank yous were extended:

- To Stephanie Bates and Cindy Thompson, the church staff and all the many, many volunteers for their efforts in bringing forth a very successful outcome to the Stable Tour.
- To Ellen Hall for her leadership of the Thrift Shop, and her creative ideas for marketing its treasures; Cindy Thompson is now the new chair of the Thrift Shop.
- To the Flower Guild for their extraordinary talents, especially in making splendid arrangements for many weddings and funerals in May and June.

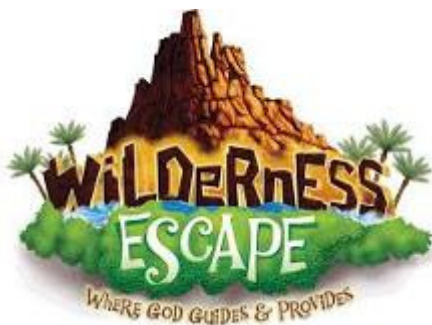

Gina reminded the Vestry that the Church does not close down for the summer. She urged everyone to welcome our visitors on Sunday mornings, share a copy of our new brochure on the Outdoor Sanctuary, and invite them to coffee hour. If children are present, they may visit the nursery or make use of books found at "Miss Charlotte's Corner" in the north transept.

The meeting concluded at 9:00 pm with final prayers.

The Summer Vestry meeting has been rescheduled for Wednesday, August 20, 2014 at 6:30 pm in Cox Hall.

Vestry Nominees

For the Class of 2017

Our Annual Meeting & Election will be held October 5, 2014
There will be one service at 9:30 a.m.

The Episcopal Diocese of Virginia Canon 11, section 4: Only Lay persons who are confirmed adult communicants in good standing of the church, as defined in General Convention Canon 1.17., shall be eligible for election as Vestry members of such church. However, regardless of eligibility of a person for election, no person shall be elected at duly convened congregational meeting to consecutive full terms on a congregation's Vestry or Vestry Committee.

Barbara Conner

I am honored to be asked to serve on the Vestry. Having been a vestryperson at St. Luke's Wellington Parish, Alexandria, I understand the responsibilities of the Vestry, particularly the importance of being good stewards both for the present as well as for the future of Trinity. Here at Trinity I have enjoyed being part of the Parish Life Committee, the Adult Christian Education Committee, hosting Sunday coffee hours, presenting an adult forum on Parenting the Millennial Generation, helping with the Stable Tour, and supporting the Christmas Auction.

Presently I am the Director of College Counseling at Foxcroft School. My prior employment includes: College and Career Center Specialist at West Potomac High School, Fairfax County; organizational consultant for small companies and individuals to help them achieve their goals; City Manager in Charlottesville (while my former husband was in law school); and general manager/human resources director for an organization in Old Town Alexandria. All of these jobs share the common elements of helping people discover their strengths and goals, and then developing strategies to achieve them.

I am a graduate of Sweet Briar College (BA – Political Economics/Public Administration/ Management) and the University of Virginia (MEd – Social Foundations of Education). I serve or have served on boards/committees for many organizations, i.e., Potomac and Chesapeake Association for College Admissions Counseling, Virginia State PTA, Mount Vernon-Lee Chamber of Commerce, and St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

My married daughter, Margaret, lives in Kirkland, Washington and is working on her masters in social work. My son, Kit, a recent graduate of New England College, works at a therapeutic boarding school in New Hampshire. Thank you for considering me for the Vestry. I look forward to the next three years and will do my best to honor tradition as we move toward the future.

Jim Gemmer

I am a retired US Navy Reserve Captain, having served at various bases around the world. I came to the DC area in 2005, after active duty following 9/11. My wife, Kat, maintained our family farm in East Tennessee until our grown children began pursuing their own careers and lives. We fell in love with the Hunt Country and began looking for a home and church. We were blessed to discover Trinity Upperville. The welcome we received, the wonderful music, and the beautiful campus called us to make this our new church home.

I have been an active church member my entire life. Baptized in the Presbyterian Church, and later converted to the Lutheran faith, I have taught youth and adult Sunday school, and I have served on Council in the East Tennessee region for a number of years. Kat and I also served as representatives many times at Lutheran Synod Conventions. We were confirmed at Trinity in 2013.

At Trinity I have enjoyed serving at S.O.M.E., finding the trek to DC a journey not only of faith, but of fellowship with fellow parishioners. The opportunity to help those in need is a blessing in my life. I also serve on the Buildings Committee. I am a woodworker by family tradition. The buildings of Trinity drew Kat and me to this church. It is my belief that their maintenance and good repair are in and of themselves a commitment to God's work and plan. We are directed to serve through the Great Commission in Matthew's Gospel. We each need to find the way that allows us to do so with joy and consistency. I am humbled and honored to have been asked to serve as a member of the Trinity Vestry and look forward to this opportunity.

Susan Grayson

Thank you for the opportunity to be nominated to the Vestry. Trinity Church has been a special place for me since I was confirmed and began my journey here in 1980 with Janet Grayson Whitehouse and other Grayson family members. Cab and I were married here in 1982. We lived in California and Washington, D.C. for many years, but had our two boys, Paul and Billy baptized here and attended services when visiting. Since 2008, we have lived at Blue Ridge Farm near Upperville and have attended Trinity Church.

I believe Trinity Church is a place for loving others, feeling spiritual, and experiencing God's work in my daily life. This church offers so many opportunities to grow and develop as a Christian. I am involved in the Flower Guild, as an usher, and was Co-Chair of the 2013 Stable Tour. I also enjoy participating on the Parish Life Committee and the many events we organize. I hope to encourage others, as other members have encouraged me. I am blessed to be part of this special place.

I grew up in Kansas and moved to Washington, D.C. in 1979. I have a Master's degree in Special Education and have taught in a variety of elementary schools, and presently substitute in local schools. I am also a Registered Nurse and Therapeutic Massage Therapist. I am on the board of the Goose Creek Association and the Executive Committee of the Fauquier Loudoun Garden Club, and am a member of the Upperville Garden Club. I enjoy horseback riding, playing tennis, and gardening.

It would be a privilege to serve Trinity as a member of the Vestry.

Dan Murphy

Beth and I have been part of the Middleburg and Trinity community for 25 years. Our daughters were both baptized at Trinity and enjoyed being part of the church's music ministry as they grew up. Grace has just graduated from UVA and Molly is ready to begin her senior year at Foxcroft. Both girls went to Hill School, where Beth and I both enjoyed volunteering. I served for several years on the Hill Board, three as President.

I am the principal of a design studio that plans and develops museum exhibits. In this work, I have learned about our shared heritage, the power of mission-driven enterprises, and the opportunities for committed communities to do transformational work. I believe that through my work I have developed both a creative mind-set and the ability to define and solve problems in a collegial fashion. I hope that belief is true, and that I can use those skills to contribute to Trinity as a member of your Vestry.

My strongest link to Trinity is through the wonderful music ministry; I have enjoyed so much being part of the truly extraordinary choir and learning the meaning and practice of our music from Christian Myers. Music continues to be the strongest liturgy for me but my commitment to Trinity is grounded in the belief that the true and unique role of the Church is to do good. I believe that with God's help, Rob's leadership, and a strong community of faith we can do much to lift the lives and spirits of those around us.

I am honored to be asked to serve on the Vestry and will do my very best to help shape a bright and purposeful future for our church community. Many thanks for the opportunity to serve.

Did You Know?

Little known facts about Trinity Episcopal Church – Upperville, VA

The Weathervane

The weathervane, the work of B. Eustbouts of Astau, Holland, is a rooster or “cock”; cast in bronze and covered with gold leaf.

This symbol is long associated with St. Peter and the denial of his association with Jesus Christ. “... before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice.” (Mark 14:30)

The late Rev. Robert Cox is often mentioned as quoting a medieval saying, “The angels, arising each morning in Heaven, sing out their praises to God and on earth the cock hears and echoes their songs.”

(The preceding is quoted from Trinity Episcopal Church by George H. Glaysner (1973) Footnote #9 c.)

This weathervane looks relatively small when in place on top of the church steeple but in fact is very large, standing nearly five (5) feet tall. It has been removed two times since its original installation; once in the late 1970s or early 1980s because it was bent during a hurricane. The second time was in 2009 to have the gold leaf restored by a local craftsman.

It is always wonderful to see this bright beacon when approaching Upperville from any direction.

Stewardship—Season of Sabbath

As we enter into our Stewardship quarter, where we celebrate the Sabbath, your Stewardship Committee hopes that all of you have a blessed summer, 2014. This month we would like to share with you an article written by Brother Robert L'Esperance, from the Society of St John the Evangelist, an Episcopal monastic community in West Newbury MA (www.ssje.org). May you enjoy a summer of simplicity!!

The Art of Living Simply: Making More of Less

“Truly I tell you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a little child will never enter it.”
~ Jesus

“Simplify, simplify, simplify.”
~ Henry David Thoreau, Walden.

Rules for a simpler lifestyle cannot be universal rules. We are responsible for their imagination and situation. Nor is a simpler lifestyle a panacea for what ails. But, a simpler lifestyle can be an act of faith as a matter of personal integrity and commitment to a more just distribution of the world's scarce resources. It can be a resolution against a mindset that calls for overconsumption.

Jesus called his disciples to become simpler like a child. Withdrawal from the often neurotic pressure of our materialistic society can be a response to that call. It can be an act of solidarity with the vast majority of humanity which lacks the range for choices we enjoy.

A simpler lifestyle can be a way to share with those who have less and a way of returning to them what is usurped by unjust social and economic structures. Assuming a stance of under-consumption can be provocative invitation to others into a conversation about affluence, poverty and social justice.

Our faith is not about authority or rules. It's about service and relationship. We are asked to bring about the kingdom here and now. Simpler can be a way of anticipating that kingdom when God's justice will right power relationships and resource allocation. A simpler lifestyle can be an act of advocacy for legal changes that will right corrupted patterns of production that disregard the earth and its creatures and over-consumption by a fraction of the population.

Simplifying our demands can align with our needs, redirecting production from Madison Avenue-inspired wants toward goods and services that will satisfy genuine needs.

Do I believe that if I adopt a simpler lifestyle I am going to end poverty and that my actions are going to directly benefit the dispossessed? Maybe yes, maybe no. But any demand for proof of effectiveness only plays into the myth that the poor are the problem and that the rich have the solution.

Ways to Simplify Your Life:

- * Decide what's most important to you. What do you value most?
- * List your current commitments and evaluate them in light of these values. What do you want to be doing with your precious time?

- * Simplify work tasks. Focus on the essential tasks and eliminate the rest.
- * Do one thing at a time. Multi-tasking is more complicated, more stressful, and generally less productive.
- * Sort through your stuff. Pick a room or a closet or a work area and do a thorough purging. Separate into three piles: keep, give away, and trash.
- * Simplify your wardrobe. Give away things you haven't worn in the past year.
- * Limit your purchases. Buy less stuff. Ask yourself if you really need this and if you really need to own this before purchasing it.
- * Have a place for everything.
- * Limit your communications. Decide when and how much time you will devote to email, IM, phone calls, etc.
- * Eat slowly. Slow down to lose weight, improve digestion, and enjoy life more.
- * Exercise. It helps burn off stress and makes you feel better.
- * Spend time with the people you love.
- * Spend time alone. Learn to meditate.
- * Slow down. Live life more deliberately.

Always ask: Will this simplify my life?
If the answer is no, reconsider.

Summer Choir

Christian Myers, Director of Music Ministries

Of course I am biased, but I am quite certain that nobody devotes as much time to the church as the choir. There are certainly a few individuals who are notable exceptions such as our Senior Warden who has literally made a full time job out of that position, but as a group, the choir clearly wins. Throughout the program year they are here for two hours each and every week for rehearsal as well as another 30 minutes before church each and every Sunday.

As wonderful and committed as many of them are, no other group in the church does that. And so, it is all the more impressive that when given the chance for a break over the summer, many of them still keep coming, particularly after what has been one of the most demanding Springs for the choir that I can remember.

Each year, the full choir sings through Trinity Sunday which usually falls sometime in the middle of June. After that we switch to Summer Choir mode until September. Our section leaders are off and we take a break from weekly Thursday night rehearsals. Still, many of those who are here show up early each summer Sunday, put together a simple anthem, and ensure that even when the fish are jumpin' and the cotton is high, Trinity Church worship is enhanced with appropriate music.

Many thanks to all our choir members for their special devotion and a job well done this year particularly to those who are our wonderful summer choir.

A Village is Rising in the Countryside

At Helping Haitian Angels, we're building a new village for our children. It's almost time to move out of a crowded rented building in Cap Haitien to a new 40-acre campus in a small community known as "Declé." In the new village, a resident "mama" and ten children will live in each of eight "family" homes. The campus will include a school and church, as well as a farm which will provide about 80 percent of our food.

Our program is to love our kids and provide for their needs as they grow up, including food, clothing, shelter and the opportunity to love God. As they grow old enough to "age out" of the orphanage, we help them to learn the life and work skills which will allow them to become productive members of Haitian society.

On a recent trip, to plan for an electrical distribution system, I saw the village rising in the countryside. The first phase of building is well underway. A community center, which will also be the church, is nearly complete; it includes a kitchen and a laundry, as well as a large, open-air pavilion. This spring, Easter church services were held in the new building! There were several courses of blocks on one of the houses, and the foundation had been poured for a second. Clean water is already available from a deep well—a wonderful gift and blessing from Trinity Church.

The first four houses will be completed in July, and the children will move to the new campus, as our lease on the Cap Haitien house comes to an end. We hope to complete a ten-room school before the fall, then build the remaining four houses. A home for the resident director, housing for visiting volunteers, dormitories for young people transitioning out of the orphanage, and a building for administration and medical clinic are planned for later phases.

Our neighbors at Declé look forward to the new village! They will be invited to attend church, and their children will be able to go to the new school. Trinity's well may even be able to provide potable water for the community.
